Metropolitan Test Looking Dry

The important test of the Metropolitan Oil company, in 51.19 7, half a mile north of the northern edge of the city, has not yet been completed. The water is not looking too favorable after drilling 100 feet under the casing. At 2,450 there was a showing of oil which partially filled the hole. Casing was set in the expectation that the Bartlesville sand was just beneath. This shows that the Bartlesville sand is found at 2,450 was a little high for the Bartlesville sand and might have been what is called the Skinner, a formation sometimes found a short distance above the Bartlesville. The well will go down several hundred feet deeper.

Activity at Bartlesville

Western Muskogee county is already beginning to quicken to the new selling.

The number of drilling wells has been doubled in two weeks. So far most of the work is in the northeast portion of the county, of which the following notes are late surveys.

This well is the second location north of the southern corner of the southwest quarter, offsetting the Elton Oil company's No. 7 Humphrey.

Bradford Corbin and the Grayson company are drilling about 900 feet in their No. 2 Green. Powell, 14-14-16.

The Merrell Oil Co. is drilling its No. 5 Morrison, 15-14-16, at about 1,000 feet. No. 6 is starting.

The Keith Pleit on Co. is starting No. 3, about 1,000 feet. No. 4 is starting.

Unknown parties have a rig up to the southwest of the northwest of 20-14-16.

FRUIT MUST GO BEFORE EVENING

Plenty of Peaches Are Left at Provident Association and Will Spoil If Not Taken Today—Jars Contributed

"We still have plenty of peaches left, and they must all be gone by tonight, or they will be worthless," said Miss Novella Gould, superintendent of the United Provident Association, Tuesday. "We were busy all yesterday afternoon distributing them, but we will have a great abundance, and I wish that you would emphasize the fact that we must be rid of them tonight."

Fruit jars for the canning of the delicious fruit sent here by the farmers and merchants of Jones City were assured Tuesday, when Mills and Sons, grocers, sent a gross of jars to the association, and Charles F. Lincoln, representative of the Hill Brothers Glass works, of Munice, Indiana, told Miss Gould to order as many as she needed from his plant and they would be furnished free of cost.

To aid the mothers in getting the peaches canned, the ladies of the Pilgrim Congregational church offered the use of their kitchens to those who wished to can fruit, but who had no facilities or means of doing so at home. Today the kitchens of this church are peopled by a small army of anxious mothers, who are canning peaches with rapidity which Von Hindenburg might well admire.
